

LAS VEGAS

REVIEW-JOURNAL

SPORTS Golden Knights Neal, Fleury named to All-Star game 1C ▶

LIFE Jewish Film Festival lineup features ‘Hedy Lamarr Story’ 1D

THURSDAY •

January 11, 2018

$1.50

MUSTREADS

Las Vegas Review-Journal

- Cliven Bundy (above) spoke to journalists and supporters outside Metro headquarters. 1B
- A federal lawsuit filed in Nevada says a “revenge porn” site broke state and federal law. 1B
- North Las Vegas’ city manager stepped down a day after reporting she had fired the assistant city manager. 1B
- Republican and Democrats see a window of opportunity for an immigration deal. 4A
- President Donald Trump said it “seems unlikely” he will talk with special counsel Robert Mueller. 4A
- U.S. Rep. Darrell Issa said he will not seek re-election this year. 4A
- The Gaming Control Board recommended approving a slot machine maker’s initial public offering. 8B
- KB Home is developing the once-abandoned Desert Mesa project. 8B

- The number of people booking home stays in Las Vegas through Airbnb surged in 2017. 8B
- Jovan Mooring sank an important three-pointer as UNLV beat Air Force. 1C
- A group urged the NFL on Wednesday to investigate the Raiders’ hiring of Jon Gruden as head coach. 1C
- “Black-ish” star Deon Cole is bringing his stand-up routine to the Cannery. 1D
- Las Vegas native Natalia Stratton is skating into town with Disney on Ice. 2D
- Actor-director James Franco denied sexual misconduct allegations in a late-night TV interview. 6A
- Rescue crews searched for a couple dozen missing people as the death toll from the Southern California mudslides reached 17. 6A
- The Supreme Court heard arguments about Ohio’s effort to remove people from voter rolls. 6A
- South Korea’s president hopes a summit with Kim Jong Un can be arranged. 8A
- Catalonia’s main separatist parties agreed to re-elect fugitive Carles Puigdemont as president. 8A
- British officials urged Germany to back a post-Brexit deal to protect the financial services sector. 8A
- The Reno City Council voted to sue opioid makers and distributors. 2B

 Sunny
62 43

Business	8B	Politics	4A
Comics	4D	Puzzles	5D
Life	1D	Sports	1C
Nation	6A	Television	3D
Nevada	1B	Weather	9A
Opinion	5B	World	8A

7-Eleven raids net 21

ICE holds store employees suspected of being undocumented

By Jessie Bekker
Las Vegas Review-Journal

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers arrested 21 suspected undocumented employees Wednesday at 7-Eleven franchise locations across the country, including some in Nevada.

The arrests, which are administrative and require those arrested to appear in immigration court, were part of an ICE sweep in which the agency served 98 7-Eleven convenience stores with audit notices, a tool the agency uses to monitor whether stores are hiring undocumented workers. It was not known how many locations in Nevada were served.

“Today’s actions send a strong message to U.S. businesses that hire and employ an illegal workforce: ICE will enforce the law, and if you are found to be breaking the law, you will be held accountable,” ICE Deputy Di-

See RAIDS 2A

Chris Carlson The Associated Press

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents serve an employment audit notice Wednesday at a 7-Eleven in Los Angeles.

Strip attraction gets high-tech boost

K.M. Cannon Las Vegas Review-Journal @KMCannonPhoto

Lighted drones fly over the Fountains of Bellagio on Wednesday during the Intel Shooting Star show as part of CES.

Lives worth honoring

Families remember two fallen guards

By Briana Erickson
Las Vegas Review-Journal

As security guards at Arizona Charlie’s Decatur, LaTosha Juane White and Phillip Albert Archuleta were protectors — in and out of the casino.

They loved their families and friends in their own ways, White as a huggable guardian, Archuleta as a fun-loving prankster. White, 50, was a seasoned security officer with more than 20 years of experience. Archuleta, 28, was a year and a half into his gig.

They’re both gone now, having been gunned down Dec. 30 while on duty. But

Lisa Garcia

Phillip Albert Archuleta with his oldest son, John Phillip.

their spirits and personalities linger on in the people they touched.

Tamia Dow remembers White as her friend and “bodyguard.” When they

Tamia Dow

LaTosha White, 50, was killed Dec. 30 at Arizona Charlie’s.

were both students at Chaparral High School, White heard a girl say something offensive about Dow, and

See GUARDS 10A

HOPE AND HEALING

#VEGASSTRONG

▶ reviewjournal.com/lvshooting

Facility possible for SWAT

MGM confirms Metro talks

By Wade Tyler Millward
Las Vegas Review-Journal

MGM Resorts and the Metropolitan Police Department have confirmed discussions for a possible SWAT building at the site of the Strip shooting.

SWAT would not use the site as a training area, MGM spokeswoman Debra DeShong said Wednesday.

The preliminary discussions concerned a portion of the concert venue called Las Vegas Village. MGM has not yet decided on the future of the property.

“The discussions are in the conceptual stages, and no final decisions have been made as to the future use of the entirety of the property,”

See SWAT 2A

Boys, 14, hit by car wanted rainy walk

By Blake Apgar
Las Vegas Review-Journal

Trevor Dodd didn’t want to take the bus Monday afternoon when the final bell rang at Legacy High School in North Las Vegas.

He wanted to walk with his friend Elijah Coggins instead.

“They said they wanted to walk in the rain because the rain made them happy,” Dodd’s mother said.

Then a 21-year-old man driving south in a sedan on North Fifth Street, near East Centennial Parkway, crossed the center line and hit the two 14-year-olds, who were walking south against traffic. The boys were walking in a dirt area without a sidewalk.

Coggins died at University

See WALK 10A